

Kevin Reilly

for Douglas County Schools

Stronger Schools Brighter Futures

Who I am:

I am a long time Colorado and Douglas County resident. I came to Colorado in the 80s to complete my doctoral degree at the University of Denver. I put myself through graduate school working as a business consultant and counselor. Over the years I have worked within hospital systems as a supervisor and manager. I have also served on the board of the Colorado Psychological Association. I am a Neuropsychologist in private practice and do consultative work at a local medical center. My most important “job” is raising my wonderful 16 year old daughter, who has attended Douglas County schools since kindergarten.

Why I am Running:

The Douglas County school board has undertaken a divisive political agenda that has diverted taxpayer money from public education and threatens our school district. I could not sit by and watch while our school system was dismantled. I intend to provide a rational, non-partisan voice to matters before the Board of Education. Hopefully the dangerous course the board has embarked on can be changed from the inside.

What I Stand For:

I am opposed to diverting public funds to private/religious schools. I think teachers should be paid for the skills and abilities they bring to teaching our children. I do not have an anti- or pro- union agenda. I think all new programs should be carefully evaluated for both risks and benefits. I believe our schools need the resources and funding to achieve excellence. Our schools are part of our community infrastructure. Our infrastructures are suffering from decades of underfunding and neglect. Our future depends on the foundation we give to our future generations.

Dr. Kevin Reilly
